WHY USE AN IRS CERTIFIED FREE TAX PREPARATION SITE?

- It's FREE! The average tax return costs $240 but can range between $100 and $600. At free tax prep sites, no one's offering you costly loan products with hidden fees.
- It's ACCURATE! IRS Certified free sites have a 94% accuracy rate, while paid preparers are rated as only 40% accurate. This could mean more money owed or not getting a full refund.

THINGS YOU SHOULD KNOW FOR THE 2022 TAX SEASON

Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC)

For the first time, adults without children at home can qualify for this credit. The EITC has nearly tripled this year for workers without dependent children, from ~$540 to up to $1,500. In addition, previously ineligible workers age 19-24 who are not half-time+ students, and older workers (65+) are now eligible for the expanded EITC.

Recovery Rebate Credit

The IRS issued three Economic Impact Payments (EIP) in 2020-2021. You may be eligible to claim a Recovery Rebate Credit on your 2020 or 2021 federal tax return if you didn't get an EIP or got less than the full amount. Depending on whether you missed the first, second or third payment, you will need to file either a 2020 or 2021 tax return to claim a Recovery Rebate Credit. Learn more on the IRS website.

Child Tax Credit (CTC)

Nearly every family with children is eligible to receive the expanded CTC this year. Each qualifying household is eligible to receive up to $3,600 for each child under age 6, and $3,000 for each child between ages 6 and 17. You must file a tax return this year to claim this credit, even if you do not typically file.

Reporting Unemployment Compensation

You may be among the millions of people who received unemployment compensation in 2021 due to the coronavirus pandemic. By law, these benefits are taxable and must be reported on your tax return. If you received unemployment compensation in 2021, you should receive a Form 1099-G showing the amount you were paid and any federal income tax you withheld. If you don't receive one by mail, request one online.
